Mexico is off the front page again.

Judge Young has ordered a prohibition election in Henderson county for Sept. 28.

Whirlwind campaigns for Stanley are being conducted this week in Clark and other counties.

Texas announces that the prairie dogs have been about cleaned out, after a five years' campaign.

Mayor Alex Y. Patterson, of Bowling Green, was kicked by a mule Monday and painfully hurt.

Mme. Caillaux hugged her lawyer when the jury acquitted her. The jurors seem to have been overlooked.

Tom Cromwell's straw vote shows that Chapman will beat Bob Thomas in the Third district by 375 to 650 votes.

The Morganfield Sun says Judge Henson will get 1,000 majority in Webster county and 1,000 to 1,200 in Union.

If Stanley is nominated he will not lead his party "Through a slaughter house into an open grave." Do you remember who did that in 1907?

Of 23 paragraphs in the "editorial comment" column of the Elizabeth-town News Tuesday, 23 were advocating Beckham. That number is rather significant, Harry.

Editor N. E. Calmes, of the Eddyville Herald, is critically ill of tuberculosis at his home in Eddyville. He is the best newspaper man who ever published a paper in Lyon county.

There have been two judicial vacancies caused by deaths in the First circuit judge's district in 100 days, but there will be others ready and willing to step in and take a chance.

If Stanley fails of nomination, it will be because Gov. McCreary, having no hope of success himself, stayed in the race and took a part of the anti-Beckham votes from Stanley.

The news of the Austro-Servian war has demoralized the markets of the world. On the Chicago market wheat jumped 9 cents. Violent declines occurred on the New York stock markets.

Druggists in dry counties should be careful what kind of drinks they leave setting around when politicians are coming and going. The coal oil can or the bottle label do not always tell what is inside.

The Mayfield Messenger says Mr. Stanley is opposed to local option and the county unit law. Mr. Stanley himself says in all of his speeches that he favors both propositions. It is well to tell the truth even in heated campaigns.

VETERINARIANS FEAST AT CAVE

Attendance Was From Six States, And Semi-annual Meeting Held.

Yesterday the Ohio Valley Veterinary Association held its semi-annual meeting here. There were about two dozen of the veterinarians in the city. They were at the Latham Hotel for breakfast in the morning and a large barbecue was given them at Campbell's Cave at noon. In the afternoon a business session was held at 2:30 at Dr. Isbell's office. The association adjourned with the afternoon session.

River Drained.

The floodgate in the second street dam was raised last week and the river again drained above the dam.

CONTESTANTS HURRYING FOR SUBSCRIPTIONS THIS WEEK

Many of The Big 35,000 Bonus Votes Coupons Will Be Issued.

END WILL SOON BE REACHED. Contestants Are Largely Increasing Their Reserve Strength.

A few $20 clubs turned in between now and Saturday night, while it is possible to secure 35,000 extra votes with each $20 paid on subscriptions, will place any contestant in the list in a better position to win the Ford Touring Car, and several contestants are working with the determination to secure enough subscriptions to entitle them to several of the big extra vote coupons. Every subscription will count. Ten for 1 year each will make a club or one for ten years will make a club. Don't be satisfied with one club. The more of these big extra vote coupons the better your chance of success. Remember this offer closes Saturday night and will not be repeated or extended. Take advantage of it now.

DECISION IS POSTPONED

Winchester Judge Grants Attorneys More Time to Cite Authorities.

Winchester, Ky., July 28.—In the County Court to-day Acting Judge B. E. Wills postponed decision until Thursday morning on the two petitions which have been filed for a local option election. The postponement was made on request of Attorney James F. Winn, for the "wets," who asked time to cite authorities. D. L. Pendleton, attorney for the "drys," was in favor of an immediate decision.

Two petitions for an election have been filed, one by the "drys" asking that an election in Clark county, and one by the "wets" asking for an election in the N. Rth Winchester precincts, the only, precinct in the county where liquor can be sold. The temperance people want the county election on September 28, while the liquor people have asked for the precinct election on September 25. Each side deposited $50 to defray certain election expenses.

BECKHAM BY ONLY 6,000

Is Claim Now Set Up By Those Until Recently Claiming The Earth.

NINETEEN COUNTIES OMITTED

Post Card Canvass Conducted By Tom Cromwell of Lexington.

By Thomas B. Cromwell.

Lexington, Ky., July 27.—The post card canvass conducted by the writer during the last two weeks indicates the nomination of former Governor J. C. W. Beckham for the full term and Senator Johnson N. Camden for the unexpired term as United States Senator by the Democrats of Kentucky at the primary election to be held next Saturday.

The estimators, who are sheriffs, newspaper editors, county judges, members of the legislature, county chairmen and others, however, do not present figures that produce victory for Mr. Beckham by so great a plurality as has been long claimed for him by his managers and as was indicated by the writer's canvass presented in these columns last December.

Post Card Canvass.

While the post card canvass makes it appear that Mr. Beckham is justified in his sanguineness, it does not bolster up the statement of Mr. Woodson that the former governor will get more votes than Congressman Stanley and Governor McCreary combined.

With no figures forthcoming from the counties of Anderson, where the normal Democratic vote is 1,370; from Bracken, 1,350; Bullitt, 1,300; Caldwell, 1,230; Clay, 625; Fulton, 1,600; Grayson, 1,650; Green, 1,100; Knox, 875; Laurel, 1,100; Leslie, 110; Livingston, 1,000; Martin, 250; Meade, 1,150; Owsley, 225; Pendleton, 1,320; Robertson, 570; Spencer, 1,050; and Webster, 2,150; the remaining counties give Beckham 69,925, Stanley 63,905 and McCreary 27,905.

In the majority of instances very likely these figures are nothing more or less than guesses, though in a number of counties they were based on straw votes and house-to-house canvasses of certain sections of the towns and counties. The smaller the vote in a county the more ready and probably the most accurate response. The aggregate of the estimate is 161,735, while the aggregate of the Democratic vote in 1912 was 219,584.

Wont Commit Themselves.

It was like pulling eye teeth to get responses from the officials and politicians in the cities of Louisville, Covington, Newport and Lexington. The first post cards and letters elicited some responses, but, as far as Louisville and Lexington are concerned, so widely differing as to leave considerable doubt about what may be the results in Jefferson and Fayette counties.

Here in Lexington, for instance, the city and county officials and the leading politicians are divided to such an extent that there is no very thorough organization for either Beck-

Judge Smith Decides That He Is Without Jurisdiction In Liquor Case.

Louisville, Ky., July 29.—Judge W. M. Smith rendered a decision in the Christian county injunction case today, deciding that he had no jurisdiction, since Judge Hanberry was now in his district. He did not pass upon the constitutional question raised. The litigation is returned to Hopkinsville and the case will come before Judge Hanberry.

ham, Stanley or McCreary. One set is anxious to make a good showing for Governor McCreary, since he has yet 16 months in office at Frankfort, and does not know but what it may want to ask a few favors of him during that time.

Another set feels that Beckham is certain of victory, and it wants to put the city and county into his column strong enough to gain recognition. The union labor element is practically solid for Stanley, and he will get a large percentage of the liquor vote.

Estimate of Votes.

The range of opinion concerning Louisville and Jefferson county is even greater than that here. The several estimates received hit around 17,000 as the total of the vote likely to be cast, but there is no uniformity of opinion as to how it will be divided.

Information from Covington and Newport is to the effect that McCreary will carry both Kenton and Campbell counties, with Stanley second and Beckham third, and a light vote is indicated at both points.

The estimate given from Daviess county—Stanley 3,000, Beckham 1,000 and McCreary nothing—is from Sheriff B. J. Milton, of Owensboro, but in so far as Stanley and Beckham are concerned it is not in keeping with the views of editor Urey Woodson, as expressed in his newspaper.

He doesn't concede Daviess county to Stanley by so much and he is doing his best to turn it into the Beckham column.

Stanley's Explanation.

Out of Stanley's headquarters in Louisville this week there issued a statement to the effect that Editor Woodson is sore because Stanley would not make a deal whereby his son-in-law, Hamilton Alexander, could be appointed postmaster at Owensboro, and that is given as the basis of his reason for the prophecy that Beckham will be nominated.

It is further said by the Stanleyites that Editor Woodson has been promised the Beckham support for secretary of the national Democratic committee in 1916, and it is alleged that a deal to that effect was made in Louisville last week.

Looking at the race by congressional districts, the estimates make it appear that Beckham will carry the First, Third, Fourth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh, leaving the Second and Fifth to Stanley, and the Sixth to McCreary, if the opinion as to his carrying Kenton and Campbell counties is to prevail.

Haly Claims Louisville.

Gen. Percy Haly claims that Louisville and Jefferson county, which comprises the Fifth district, will be in the Beckham column. In that event Stanley, it seems, will carry only his home district.

AUSTRIA DECLARES WAR ON SERVIA, NOW UP TO RUSSIA

JUDGE SMITH POISONED

Given Carbolic Acid By Mistake of a Clinton Doctor.

DIED ALMOST INSTANTLY.

He Had Only Been On The Bench Since Last April.

Clinton, Ky., July 29.—As the result of a deplorable accident Judge R. L. Smith, of the First judicial district, died here yesterday.

Judge Smith, who was one of the most prominent men in this section of the state, came to town yesterday afternoon on his way to Louisville, where he was going to hold a conference in regard to his candidacy for re-election to the office which he held. Feeling somewhat indisposed he stopped at the office of Dr. Fred Bealer, a close personal friend of his, and asked for some medicine for indigestion. Dr. Bealer turned to get him some medicine, and as he did so Judge Smith is said to have reached on the table for a glass which contained acid, but which, supposedly, he thought was some other liquid.

Al Clinton was horrified when news of the terrible accident became public.

Judge Smith was 45 years of age. He was a Mason and an Elk and was very popular in fraternal, business and political circles. He was born and spent all of his life in Clinton. He was elected commonwealth's attorney for the First judicial district and served in that position until last April, when, after the death of Judge R. J. Bugg, Gov. McCreary appointed him as judge of the district.

Judge Smith was married and is survived by his wife and two children. The burial will take place here.

TRIAL ENDS IN FREE FIGHT

Prisoner Acquitted After Brief Deliberation By The Jury.

Paris, July 29.—Mme. Henriette Caillaux was acquitted last night by a jury in the court of assizes of the wilful murder on March 16 last of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro. The verdict was returned after fifty minutes deliberation. The announcement was followed by the wildest tumult.

Mme. Caillaux staggered and then threw her arms about the neck of her counsel, Fernand Labori. Her hair fell over her shoulders and her hat fell to the floor. The spectators stood upon desks and chairs. Cries of "Caillaux! Labori!" and "Caillaux, assassin!" mingled.

The din was deafening. Several groups of barristers came to blows and the republican guards, trying to separate them, joined in the melee. The spectacle of Labori and Chenu, the latter counsel for the Calmette family, embracing each other, calmed the tumult for a moment, but it was redoubled when they left with Mme. Caillaux.

Unable to make himself heard, the presiding judge marched from the room. The advocates took complete possession of the court, some mounted the judge's desks and harangued the crowd.

Build Island of Concrete.

An artificial island of reinforced concrete has been built in the Mediterranean at Hyeres strait, near Toulou, the great French naval base, which is to be used solely for testing torpedoes. The island is not a large one, being less than 80 feet long by about 50 feet broad, and is built upon a reinforced concrete caisson which was towed out from Toulon and submerged. It is divided into compartments by walls 4 feet thick, in the largest of which, 10 feet below the sea level, the torpedoes are handled. Projecting from this compartment are three torpedo tubes, while above the surface of the water, 10 feet in the air, are two aerial-torpedo tubes. The operating mechanism, which uses electricity as a motive power, is all contained in the superstructure built over the caisson, and lighting and ventilating systems as well as wireless and searchlights are provided. An electric crane extending out from one side permits the torpedoes to be lifted from the water and returned to their stations after practice.—Popular Mechani-

Sudden and Severe Jolt.

The steady rumble did not cease, so Mrs. Jessup Dingerty took hold of the window sill with her hands and thrust her head out of the window.

"Oh, Jessup!" she cried a moment later. "A dirty coalman is putting coal down our cellar, and we haven't ordered any coal, have we?"

"Not a speck!" replied her husband, and put his own head out of the window to see for himself.
"It's a three-ton wagon, too!" he announced. "And you know how dear coal is! We won't say a word to him—we'll just let him put in all he wants to!"

"Jessup, you're a genius for management!" exclaimed his wife, admiringly.
"It's a wonder to me you haven't solved the high cost of living long ago."

"There must be $18 worth of coal
there," said Jessup Dingerty modestly.

For several moments they peered out at the gleaming black diamonds rushing down their cellar. Then Jessus exclaimed suddenly, "By Jove, we do everything by electricity—heating, cooking, everything. We have no use for coal!"

"Coalman!" Mrs. Dingerty called loudly out the window, "take that stuff right out again—where are your manners?"

HIS MAJESTY'S FAULT.

In the reign of Francis I of France quickness of wit was often more promptly rewarded than actual merit. The monk, Regnier Mainus, did not lack merit, but he owed his first advancement, nevertheless, to a clever retort.

Francis, who was very fond of the game of tennis, was playing a match one day with Mainus. The monk finally ended the hard-fought game with a brilliant stroke.

The king was somewhat out of humor on account of his defeat.
"Remarkable," he exclaimed, sarcastically,
"to think that such a stroke should be made by a mere monk!"

"But, sire," replied the monk, who was as quick with his wit as he was with his racket, "it is your majesty's own fault that the stroke was not made by an abbot."

A week later Mainus received his appointment as abbot of Beaulieu.—

SUMMONING THE ATTENDANT.

In the Canadian parliament the snap of the finger is the call for the messenger. But we have not yet standardized the summons for the attendant. In Turkey the master still claps his hands, which seems to be the origin of the Canadian method at the other side of the world. We have bells in our homes —but how are you to attract the attention of the waitress in a teashop?
The German has his interjection, which may be spelled "pssh!" wherewith he startles the waiters of the world. But the Englishman has not got beyond a gentle rattle of his teacup and a—"Miss!"

CREATING INTEREST.

"I understand that you favor local option."

"Yes," replied Colonel Stilwell.

"But you are not a total abstainer yourself."

"No. But my doctor has limited me to a very small allowance, and I like to add as much as possible to the excitement of getting a drink."

PUMP WATER

Pure gurgling, rippling water, fresh from deep ice cold wells, but you will need a Pump with which to do this.

After many years of experience in the Pump business, we have come to the conclusion that the "Red Jacket" So Easy to Fix and the Myers Deep and Shallow Well Pump, will cover any and all conditions that may arise in connection with elevating water, either by hand, Wind Mill or Gasoline Engine. This is due to the Mechanism of the Cylinder which is the heart of a Pump. Without "efficiency" in the Cylinder a Pump is worthless. That is where and how the Red Jacket and the Myers have established their reputation.

If you contemplate installing a system of Water Works, before doing so, we invite you to examine these pumps. It will be worth your while, besides save you Time and Money.

American Hats in France.
Marquis de Castellane, in his Paris letter to the New York American, says: "Once upon a time everything in France came from England; not only our clothes, but also our soiled linen, which was sent across the channel to be washed and then returned to Paris with an immaculate whiteness. In other words, Paris was in the hands of the English and they decided what clothes should be worn hat and, willy-nilly, Parisians were obliged to adopt this awful form of headgear. America, by inventing more practical head coverings, has, to a certain extent, liberated the world from these hideous 'stovepipes,' which England was pleased to impose upon us, and we are profoundly grateful to the United States for this blessing."

HOW TO MAKE GOOD BUTTER ON THE FARM

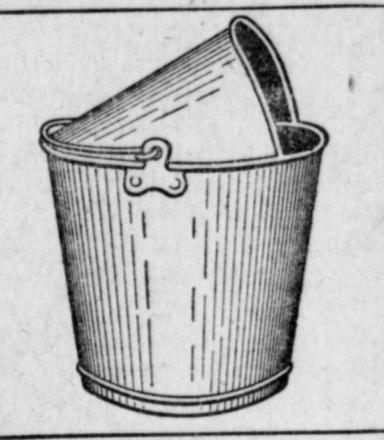

Tank for Cold Water.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Keep good cows that will produce from 200 to 300 pounds or more of butter fat annually, and feed them liberally, is the advice contained in Farmers' Bulletin 541 of the United States department of agriculture, on farm butter making. Keep the cows comfortable and clean when in the stable. This is conducive to best production.

Use clear pure water for washing the butter. It should not be more than 3° colder or warmer than the buttermilk. Use amount of water equal to that of buttermilk. In barrel churn revolve 12 to 15 times in washing. Weigh the granular washed butter and salt at the rate of three-quarter ounce to one ounce per pound.

Covered Milk Pail.

Be sure the salt is well pulverized and sift it evenly over the granular butter before any of the moisture is worked out.

Work the butter sufficiently to distribute salt without injuring grain or texture. Put it up in clean, neat, and attractive packages, and keep everything in and about the dairy clean and wholesome. Make earnest and constant efforts to obtain and retain profitable markets.

Cleanliness and attention to details are the two requisites in the manufacture of good butter. Bad flavors, lack of uniformity in color, and salt, unsuitable packages, and no uniformity in the style of the packages, are the main defects in farm butter. The bad flavors may be due to feeds or improper handling of the milk or cream before it is churned rather than to the subsequent treatment of the butter.

The importance of cleanliness can not be overemphasized in making butter. In our haste to accomplish the task we often sacrifice our better judgment. This is particularly true in handling milk and cream that is to be used in the manufacture of butter on farms. The bodies of the cows, utensils, conditions at the barn, milk room, and storage room, should all be clean.

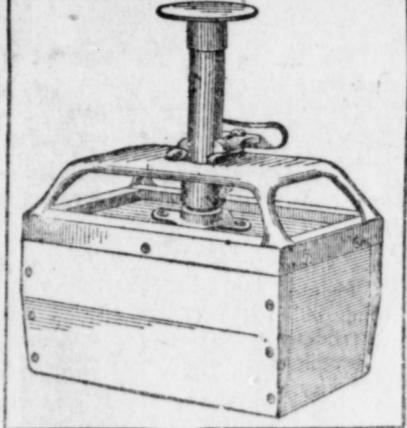

There probably is no greater source of contamination to milk than that of dust, hairs, or manure falling from the body of the cow into the open milk pail during milking. The types of bacteria which are found associated with this filth are capable of producing very objectionable changes in the milk or its products. Their activity is greatly increased by the favorable conditions existing in warm milk.

Everything which tends to favor this accumulation of filth on the cow should be removed and the cow kept clean, particularly about the flanks and udder. This can be done very efficiently and easily by keeping the long hairs clipped from the flanks and wiping the udder with a moist is recommended: Rinse thoroughly in lukewarm water, wash thoroughly with the aid of some good cleansing powder in water as hot as the hand will bear. Then thoroughly rinse in hot water, expose to live steam from one to two minutes or to boiling water for five minutes in case the steam is not available. Expose, if possible, in bright sunlight from one to three hours.

The milk room should receive careful attention with respect to cleanliness. It should be clean, light, well ventilated and free from objectionable odors. The separator should be cleaned each time it is used and not allowed to stand with milk in it. Flushing the separator with warm water does not remove the slime and milk constituents from the sides of the bowl. This slime is a suitable food for bacteria, and as a result of their rapid growth the contents of the bowl becomes a starter for the warm, fresh milk of the subsequent milking. The types of bacteria which develop here are largely those found in the manure, filth, etc., which get into the milk at the barn. Not only should the separator and its parts be kept clean, but also all equipment with which milk comes in contact. The room where milk or cream is stored or held until churned should also be clean and dry and free from bad odors, such as those from decayed or decaying fruit or vegetables, as well as odors emanating from the kitchen when meat or vegetables are being cooked. All of these odors are absorbed by cream or butter and result in objectionable flavors. The damp, musty cellar is not a suitable storage room, but a light, cool, dry and sweet-smelling cellar is often very satisfactory. Whitewash, drainage and ventilation often make an objectionable cellar a desirable storage room.

The uniformity in the appearance and attractiveness of butter is greatly increased by the color. The most desired color is that produced in butter in June, when cows are having a large amount of green, succulent feed.

Butter makers endeavor to maintain a uniform color throughout the year by the use of butter coloring. The amount of coloring varies with the season, but is usually at the rate of one to one and a half ounces to each 23 pounds of butter. The color should be added to the cream just after it has been put in the churn and before churning is begun.

The printing and packing of butter is the first and most important step in preparing it for market, and should be given careful attention.

An attractive and convenient package is an advertisement in itself, and will aid in the selling of the goods. Good butter in attractive packages can usually be profitably marketed. The packages now in use among farmers packing butter are crocks, paper boxes, parchment papers, cartons, dishes, buckets and pans. The use of some of these packages make attractiveness and convenience impossible. The most desirable and attractive forms of packages are the three, five and ten-pound crocks, and one or two pound prints wrapped in parchment paper, and butter delivery box.

The equipment for butter making should consist of a boiler, milk pails, hand and floor brushes, wash suit, milk strainer, cream separator, milk cans, floating dairy thermometer, cream-ripening vat, tank for cold water, cream stirrer, cream strainer, barrel churn, butter worker, butter ladies, or spring balance, butter printer, parchment paper or other butter packages, and butter delivery box.

Important Farm Tool.

The manure spreader is one of the most important tools on the farm, not only because it saves labor, but because it spreads the manure over more land.

Value of Grapes.

With the exception of the apple there is no fruit which goes so far in lowering the meat and other food bills for a family as grapes.

Owensboro Won Tuesday.

The Henderson-Owensboro series, transferred here from Henderson, was opened Tuesday at League by Owensboro's defeating the Hens by a score of 6 to 4. The O'bore team had worlds of ginger and were on their toes all through the game. Gross and Hancock, two portside flingers, did the mound work. Hancock had the Hens eating out of his hands until the sixth frame, when he loosened up and allowed 2 runs. Two more were gotten later by Snyder's bunch. The Owensboro boys seemed to be all to hit Southpan Gross's offerings at will. The second game was played yesterday and the last is scheduled for today.

AGED 87 YEARS

People of Prominence In The Pearl City of The Pennyroyal.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH NO. 41.

President of the F. A. Yost Co., Whose Growth In 8 Years Has Been Marvelous.

It has been said that the man who can be a successful farmer is qualified for business in almost any line. At any rate some of Hopkinsville's best business men got their starts tilling the soil. The president of one of the biggest mercantile houses on Main Street is in this class. Delbert D. Cayce, president of the F. A. Yost Co., was born in the Southern part of Christian county in 1867, being one of the several sons of Thos. J. Cayce. He grew to manhood, married and established a home for himself on a farm, but fifteen years ago felt the impulse that draws many people to the cities and decided to move to Hopkinsville.

His surviving children are John T. Johnson and Lowe Johnson. Two sons, Mark and Lee, died several years ago. He leaves one sister, Mrs. Zerelda West, of this city, two years his senior, also 13 grand-children and ten great-grand-children.

The funeral service will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the residence, conducted by Rev. R. A. Kasey, of the Methodist church, of which Mr. Johnson was a life-long member, assisted by Rev. H. D. Smith and Rev. J. B. Eshman. The interment will be in Riverside Cemetery.

Mr. Johnson was a representative of one of the pioneer families of the county and was a man of sterling worth and noble character. His long life was characterized by conscientious integrity and consistent Christianity. Of the most generous impulses, devoted to his family and friends, a good and kind neighbor and an upright, honest man, he was esteemed by wide circle of friends.

The pallbearers will be Judge J. T. Hanbury, Judge Walter Knight, Jno. B. Chilton, W. H. Hester, J. H. Gate, Jas. D. Hill, Chas. W. Lacy and Geo. D. Dalton.

A. Bradley Croft, Aged 82, Honors The Last Draft Monday.

A. Bradley Croft, one of the county's oldest and most prominent citizens, died at his home in Crofton, Monday afternoon, aged 82 years. He was born Feb. 8, 1832, on a farm near where he died and had lived all of his life in that vicinity. He was an elder brother of the late J. E. Croft, for whom the town of Crofton was named. He had been in business in Crofton for many years and was one of the chief organizers of the Bank of Crofton, of which he was made president. He was a land owner and capitalist and one of the wealthy men of his section.

He was married in 1874 to Miss Marcella Campbell, of this county, who survives him and to them was born one daughter, now the wife of Dr. Edward Williams, of Morton's Gap. Other surviving kindred are his half-brother, Geo. B. Croft, of near this city, and numerous relatives in North Christian.

Mr. Croft was a member of the Christian church and a leader in church affairs.

His death was due to organic heart trouble complicated with rheumatism and he had been an invalid since last February. Funeral services were held at the residence Tuesday afternoon by Rev. W. B. Wright, of Dawson. The interment was in the Foster burying ground, one mile north of Crofton.

Mr. Cayce is a Democrat and was for a number of years committeeman in his precinct. He was this year a member of the board of city tax supervisors. He is a member of the Christian church and a deacon in his church.

He is prominently identified with the H. B. M. A., and has been Director of that organization for two years. He is enterprising, energetic and possesses the faculty of making himself popular with the public. With qualities like these, it is but natural that he has made a successful merchant. His company has now reached such proportions that it gives employment to a corps of 20 agents and salesmen required to handle the big business.

Mr. Cayce recently purchased a beautiful home on the corner of Main and Twentieth street, where he and his family reside.

The crowd of voters which filled the court house Saturday afternoon was evidently a Kincheloe crowd, and although the mercury hovered around the 100 mark, and Kincheloe came last on the bill, enthusiastic applause greeted the speaker and continued at short intervals throughout his speech. The house passively received Judge Henson's remarks, who now and then was accorded light ripples of applause.

While Judge Henson was concluding his speech, cries of "Kincheloe, Kincheloe!" rang through the room, and when Judge Dorsey took the stand to introduce Mr. Kincheloe, he admonished the crowd to accord the speakers all courtesy due them. Kincheloe took the stand amid a round of uproarious applause, and during the first thirty minutes of his speech, in which he accused Judge Henson of wanting to grab a new office before he had served his term as Circuit Judge, the applause continued at frequent intervals.

Kincheloe said Judge Henson didn't want to be weaned from office. This elicited thunderous applause and it was easily seen that fully three-fourths of the immense crowd was heartily in sympathy with Kincheloe. Henson Daily Journal, Sunday morning, July 25, 1914.

WILD TRADING IN WHEAT

Failures Momentarily Expected, But None Announced.

Chicago, July 29.—War ran up wheat transaction Tuesday on the Chicago board of trade to a total of nearly 100,000,000 bushels and shot prices skyward 8½ to 9½ cents. No other day of the twentieth century has witnessed such wild trading here.

Failures momentarily were expected, but none was announced. However, margins were being called for to such a wide degree that it seemed certain volume of business would be greatly restricted. The risk of speculating at all in such a frenzied market formed one of the elements that promised to bring about speedy orders, notwithstanding the close was at the height of the excitement with values at the highest. Leading firms demanded that all customers put up margins of 20 cents a bushel on every deal.

SHEEP PENS BURNED

Destructive Fire In The Louisville Bourbon Stock Yards.

Eight acres of sheep pens belonging to the Bourbon Stockyards Company, at Johnson and Market streets, Louisville, were swept by fire at 9 o'clock Monday night causing a total loss of about $200,000. Four hundred sheep were destroyed and forty freight cars, half of which were loaded, were burned. The East Louisville depot of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company also was destroyed. Milton Roxberry was probably fatally burned when he attempted to save records from the burning station.

Improvement At Riverside.

The southern entrance to Riverside cemetery was macadamized last week and this week the entrance has been greatly improved in appearance. Who Makes MoneyFarming And How?

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside, the national farm paper published at Springfield, Ohio, Judson C. Welliver, Washington correspondent of that publication, writes an interesting article in which he shows that large farms are more profitable than small ones in proportion to the dollars invested. He says that after two or three years of investigation the Government has published a bulletin presenting the conclusion of a survey of representative farms in Indiana, Illinois and Iowa, wherein is shown who makes the money farming and how, also who loses it and why. Following is an extract giving some of the facts contained in the Government's reports:

"In the first place, it seems to have discovered that most of it is made by the landlord, and that chiefly out of the increase in land values. The farmer gets poor wages for his work. In a startling large proportion of the cases he gets no wages at all, after allowance is made for interest on investment and cost of help. The man on the small farm makes less wages than the man on the bigger farm, because it costs more for what the efficiency experts might call overhead operating costs on a small than on a large farm. If you don't own enough land to make a good-sized economic farming unit, rent some and farm it along with what you own. If you can't get it, sell what you have and go where you can buy enough, or rent enough, to make the proper unit."

"The Department figures show that as the size of the farm increases the proportion of it actually raising crops increases, and the number of horses and amount of machinery required per acre to farm it decreases. Likewise, until the farm gets big enough to make it possible to handle labor most efficiently—that is, to have something for all the hands to be doing all the time that is worth while—the proportionate labor cost is too large on the small farm. That may be tough on the intensive experts, but it's a fact they can't get around. The small farm must have the various implements, but they don't do as much work per dollar of cost that they represent, as on the bigger farm."

"The survey which brought out these and many more important facts included 277 farms in Indiana, 196 in Illinois, and 227 in Iowa. In each State rather than half were operated by the owners, and the rest by tenants."

Elocution.

Elocution doesn't go far enough. It merely teaches us how to speak, not when.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIAPRIZED HIS WIFE'S CRITICISM

Huxley Not Above Acknowledging the Value of Her Assistance—His Advice to Herbert Spencer.

Mrs. Thomas Henry Huxley, who died recently, was her husband's chief critic, and all his writings were submitted for her approval before they were seen by any other eye. To her judgment, says their son, was due the toning down of many a passage which erred by excess of vigor and the clearing up of phrases the public might have found obscure. Writing to her in 1868, he confesses that the editor of Macmillan's had brought him the proofs of the famous lecture on a "Piece of Chalk," and said, "There is one paragraph I can't make head or tail of." "I looked to where his finger pointed," wrote Huxley, "and behold, it was the paragraph you objected to when I read you the lecture. I told him, and said I should confess, however set it up might make you."

An incident of the Huxleys' honeymoon was a visit from Herbert Spencer, desperately trying, as usual, to escape from his morbid condition. They were at Tenby, and their report of the place tempted him. "I had hoped to benefit by going out dredging, and also by the pleasures of companionship. But I was disappointed. My state was such that I had to shun society, being unable to bear more than a few minutes' conversation."

It was Huxley who, later on, prescribed for Spencer "gynaecopathy"—the sympathetic companionship of a wife; admitting, however, that the remedy had the serious inconvenience that it could not be left off if it proved unsuitable.

PLAYING SAFE

"I never put much money in clothes."

"Then how is it you are always well dressed?"

"Oh! that's quite another matter."

"Then what's the answer?"

"My wife has the midnight exploration habit."

NOVELIST'S GOOD WORK.

Charles Reade, who stands among the best of the English novelists whose books were written with a serious purpose, was born 100 years ago in Oxfordshire. He graduated at Oxford, was educated for the bar, and made a success in the law. He was more than forty years old before he began to write novels and plays. His inclinations lay in the direction of dramatic writing, and while "The Lyons Mail" and several others of his plays were very successful, it was with novels that he accomplished a real work. His purposes, strongly worked out in his books, represented a form in the laws of England regarding lunacy, questions of prison reform, the important matter of copyright in books and plays, and in the vital matter of criminal procedure. His death occurred at his home, near London, in 1884.

AN OBJECT LESSON.

"Dad, why are you so opposed to my being an author?"

"Here is a big department store."

"Yes."

"Everything under the sun for sale and counters crowded with customers."

"Well?"

"Do you see any rush to buy books?" — Louisville Courier-Journal.

CHANGED WITH THE STYLES.

"You don't seem to hold me in the same regard that you did when you married me," said the sentimental woman.

"You must remember," replied her tactless spouse, "that you don't look the same as you did then. Fashions change so remarkably that I don't see how any man and woman can feel really acquainted." — Variety.

New Paper Fabric.

The Boston News Bureau says that at the sugar mills of the Nipe Bay company in Cuba more bagasse or refuse is being developed from the cane than is needed for fuel and that the surplus is being made into paper. It says that this paper is of a "splendid grade," selling at high figures and good profit. This possibility has been discussed often and sugar cane is not the only product considered capable of such use. Over in the Philippines one of the difficulties of agriculture is the rapidity with which the cogon grass springs up and occupies the soil. Many experiments have been made with this fibrous substance in the way of papermaking and good prospects have been reported. If it proves available, we shall have a crop, self-sown, which ripens in a few months, as against the spruce, which, if it revives at all, takes 20 years for renewal.

Don't Worry---Eat

Memphis, Tenn.—Mrs Emma D. Looney, of this place, says: "I suffered misery for nearly eight years, but since taking Cardui, I am much stronger, and I haven't missed a single meal. I hardly know how to express my gratitude." Don't worry about your symptoms—Cardui doesn't treat them. What you need is strength. Cardui helps you to get it. Take Cardui, because other tonics and medicines do not contain its peculiar and successful ingredients, imported especially for its manufacture. Half a century of success, has stamped Cardui with the seal of public approval. Cardui has benefited a million women. Why not you? Try it, today.—Advertisement.

Learn to Write Well.

First legibility; second, sightliness, should be the endeavor in handwriting and let the "character" and the "individuality" take care of themselves. If you wish to devise a signature hard to forge, that is another thing; but one's every-day handwriting should be plain and as good-looking as one can make it. The art of writing a neat, legible, well-punctuated, correctly expressed and spelled letter should belong to every high-school graduate, much more to every college graduate; and the thanks of the community are due to those who are testing and trying to improve our methods of education; but they must remember that the letter-style is properly more loose and conversational than any other, and therefore should not be criticized in just the same way.

Daily Thought.
